Additional Opportunities in the Fayetteville Shale Play of North-Central Arkansas

Phillip Shelby[1]

[1]Shelby Geological Consultants

ABSTRACT

The Fayetteville Shale gas field located in northcentral Arkansas has produced more than 8 TCF of natural gas since the play was initiated by Southwestern Energy in 2004. In excess of 5900 horizontal wells are currently producing from the Fayetteville; however, much of the activity in the past two years have focused on a deeper Mississippian Shale, opening up a new Frontier in the play.